Departure of Steamers.

FOR COLLINGWOOD AND THE EAST.

The Collingwood Line of screw steamers leave—one every week, from Wauzeka's dock, foot of East Water st., connecting at Collingwood with cars from the East.

FOR BUFFALO.

Screw steamers, with good accommodations for passengers, leave the different transportation docks every day for Buffalo.

FOR PORT WASHINGTON, &C.

The Steamer Gazelle leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock at 8 o'clock in the morning, for Port Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc and Two Rivers.

FOR CHICAGO, &C.

The steamer Traveller leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock every evening, at 5 o'clock, for Chicago and intermediate ports.

A Government Official in Trouble.

We see by the Detroit papers that very grave charges of official malfeasance have been made against Collector SHOEMAKER, of that port, and that the investigation now going on, is likely to result in his removal.—The charges prefered against him, the Advertiser understands to be,

First, That he has paid out depreciated currency in violation of the Sub-Treasury law.

Second, That he has made out vouchers for a larger account than has been expended in the services specified.

Third, That he has returned goods as in bond which have left the Custom House and are in possession of the consignees.

Fourth, That he has failed to make return of certain fees received by him.

These charges, the same paper remarks, "are of such a character, especially the charge that he has violated the Sub-Treasury law, that for the sake of the Michigan Democracy, of which he is the leader, and of the Administration, of which he is the main pillar in this State, he will be compelled to explain them away, to relieve the President from imputation of inconsistency in removing Judge O'FLYNN."

What Next?

The Herald's correspondent of the 11th, says:

"The friends of Hon. D. E. Sickles in this city have learned that he and his wife are about to resume marital relations, if they had not already done so. It was rumored that he was about to sue for a divorce, but that idea has been abandoned. The families of both put their heads together, and after discussing all the pro's and con's they came to the conclusion that it would be better for Mr. Sickles and his wife to live together again in peace and mutual affection, burying the past in the grave of oblivion. Both parties have agreed to this step, and it is said their love is greater than ever.—There is immense rejoicing among their friends, who have written letters of warm congratulation."

Verily, the age of wonders holds out well. The wolf dwelling with the lamb, the leopard lying down with the kid, the lion eating straw like the ox,—all these beautiful examples of the good time coming, sink into utter insignificance, and the brightness of their exceeding excellence pales before the serene glory which exhales from, and floats like an ethereal atmosphere of purity around the vindicated marriage-bed of DAN. SICKLES and his protty wife. Every act which rendered the past "unpleasant," and every recollection which could embitter the present, having been locked up in deep forgetfulness and the key destroyed, the foul pair may now rest in each others embraces and none shall molest or make them afraid.

The amiable and happy couple have a daughter to comfort and cheer them, who perhaps in after years shall love to hear of the conduct of her parents; and let us hope that other offspring, by and by, though not too soon, will gladden the hearts of the Congressman and her who came from the assignation house in 16th Street to his indulgent arms.

The triumphant husband having spent the sultry new-honey-moon, having paid his lawyers for denouncing TERESA as an outcast, and for convincing the jury that his domestic peace was forever destroyed, having carefully filed away among the family archieves the pictorial periodicals of last winter, will, it may be, return to Washington at the next session and there be hailed welcome by steadfast friends, while his charming better-half—all the more fascinating for her Summer's rest—will resume her position at the head of his fashionable establishment,—the idol of her spouse, the pet of society and the observed of all observers. "Such is life."

GEN. CASS REPUDIATED BY TAMMANY HALL.—The Tammany Hall General Committee last night adopted resolutions denouncing Gen. CASS for his Doctrine that Naturalized Citizens, on returning to their native country, may be compelled to resume allegiance and do military duty.—Albany Jour., July 13.

Tammany Hall, it appears, denounces the doctrine of the Administration and General CASS, as all wrong. Else News, on the contrary, maintains that it is all right, and abuses the Republicans for finding fault with it. When two such patent Doctors of Democracy, as Tammany and the News, disagree, who shall decide?

IT IS EVIDENT from the accounts we have of the battle of Solferino, that the French Emperor did not flinch from the most imminent personal danger. Many of his attendants and Guards were killed and wounded around him, and it was believed by some of the Guards who surrounded him and who were wounded, that he received a slight wound on the shoulder from a rifle ball. Several of the Cent Guards, whose duty is to take care of the person of the Emperor, and who are with him wherever he goes, were borne from the field wounded, and had their wounds dressed at a house where the editor of the N. Y. Times was stopping. They circulated the report that the Emperor had received a slight hurt.

ONE OF THE EDITORS who attended the Convention here—we do not now recollect who—in his account of the Convention, speaks as follows of the trip to Grand Haven, and the fine accommodations of the Detroit and Milwaukee route:

The D. & M. Railway Company, through their agent Mr. H. O. Wilson, than whom there is not a more courteous and affable gentleman in Wisconsin, invited the editors to a trip across to Grand Haven on board the "City of Cleveland," Capt. Squier. The cannon announced our departure, and the "beautiful city" faded in the distance. Leaving the deck and stepping into the cabin, we found that the gallant Captain, and the vigilant Wilson were putting things in order for a dance, which was participated in with a hearty good will. It is not strange that this route should be so popular as long as two such men are at the helm. They are gentlemen every inch of them and deserve well of the public. What occurred at Grand Haven we were not personally cognizant of, but if editors are to be believed, they had a "good time." Many thanks are due the managers of the Detroit and Milwaukee road for their liberality and kindness toward the members of the "craft." As a quick, reliable, pleasant route to the East, it is destined to be deservedly popular.

THERE is a brave man at Vinegar Hill, in Jo Daviess county, Ill. He is only 22 years of age, says the Galena Courier, and has just become the fifth husband of a widow lady full sixty years of age.

Crop Items.

DANE COUNTY.

Yesterday we conversed with a farmer who resides in Dane county, near the boundary line between that and Green county, and he fully confirmed the accounts we have had from that section in regard to the crops—There is very little winter wheat in that locality, but the spring crop never looked better, and if no misfortune happens to it between the present and harvest time, it will yield largely. The weather could not well be more favorable for the crops than it has been for several weeks. Our informant says he has the best field of corn that he ever saw at this season of the year. In some places it is already up to his shoulder, and he is a man of respectable statue, being none other than our friend DODGE, formerly of the Police force of this city. It is his opinion that with fair weather the corn crop will be better than has generally been anticipated. Tame grass will prove a failure. Potatoes look well.

KENOSHA COUNTY.

ENCOURAGING.—Our inquiries of farmers from the country towns, in respect to the harvest prospects, are mostly of an encouraging character. The accounts, with but few exceptions, from various portions of the State, are calculated to gladden the heart of the husbandman, and inspire hope among all classes. The accounts also from various States of the Union, are highly flattering; in many places where the wheat harvest is now in progress, the crop is pronounced better than for several years past.—Tribune & Tel.

JEFFERSON COUNTY.

Since our last issue we have travelled several miles in this vicinity, and have examined the crops very particularly, and think that wheat, oats and corn look much better than they did last year. And our opinion was borne out by several farmers whom we met, who said that from present appearances, they expected an average crop, and believed the yield would be superior to that of last year, excepting the hay crop, which would be rather deficient. This is good news, considering the gloomy prospect we had in the early part of the season.—Jeffersonian.

SHEBOYGAN COUNTY.

The crops in this county are all right, and arrangements are now being perfected for an abundant harvest. A few days more of such weather as we are now enjoying, interspersed with an occasional shower, will fasten the question beyond a doubt.—Lake Shore Advocate.

CHIPPEWA COUNTY.

During our recent trip, East, we saw no crops which looked better than they do in this county. Our farmers, so far as observation goes, have the promise of a more abundant harvest than in many other localities.—Eau Claire Press.

Important Railroad Arrangements.

The Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, while it is vigorously prosecuting the work on its immense line of railway which is to connect this city directly with the seaboard, is also completing its arrangements throughout the great West for the shipment of freight and passengers. It is known that the Montreal Steamship Company now have eight steamers running between England and the United States, which connect with the Grand Trunk Railway at Quebec during the summer, and at Portland, Maine, during the winter. Through tickets between the western States of this country and Europe are issued in Liverpool and the United States, and this arrangement has been found to give general satisfaction. The connection with the Grand Trunk is now made by the Great Western Railway to Montreal, but, on the completion of the road from this city to Port Huron, there will be a continuous line of railway under one management, reaching from Detroit to Quebec, C. E., or Portland, Maine. In anticipation of the early completion of this work, Mr. George Reath, the General Manager of the road, and Mr. Pennington, the company's General Freight Agent, have been for some time in the West, visiting the various cities, and bringing to the attention of the business people the advantages of the new line that will be opened.

They have met with very good success wherever they have been, and feel confident that when they shall be able to make a connection with the Michigan roads at this city they will at once have a large share of the traffic between the West and East. They were at Cincinnati a few days since upon a similar errand. The near completion of the Dayton and Michigan Railroad, by which that city will be directly connected with Detroit, offers to the Grand Trunk Company an opportunity of securing a portion of the southern and southwestern traffic, which they do not seem disposed to let pass. It is the intention of the company, upon the opening of the Dayton and Michigan line, to deliver freight at the principal western and southwestern cities from Liverpool and vice versa, without detention at custom-houses. The company will give its own bonds to the officers of customs, and thus property will be transmitted for entry at any inland city, without delay at any custom-house, either in Canada or the United States—inspections to be made, and duties collected, at the port of entry to which the goods may be consigned.

The advantages of this arrangement will at once be apparent, as it will enable merchants in the West to have property from Liverpool delivered to them in less time than is often required to get invoices through the New York Custom House. Besides, freights will be cheaper, for the reason that the land carriage from Quebec will be much less than from New York. The time from Liverpool will not often exceed three weeks, and goods may be delivered, at any inland town that is connected by railroad with Detroit, in sixteen or eighteen days. Under this arrangement there would be only two transhipments—one at Quebec or Portland, and one at Detroit.

The advantages of this arrangement to this city are too plain to require comment. The business community will hail the advent of the Grand Trunk Railway at our city as an omen of an immediate revival of business.—Detroit Free Press.

The British Corn Trade.

From the Mark Lane Express, June 27.

The weather for the past week has been all that could have been desired, both for getting in the hay and advancing the corn crops.—Some quantity of the former has been got into ricks, but does not turn out nowe thau about the average yield, having shot up too fast to make a heavy gathering. The critical time of blooming has now arrived in wheat, and for the next ten days or fortnight, it is most desirable there should be steady weather, not over hot. A repetition of the late storms would be truly disastrous. The fields that were lately laid have wonderfully recovered; but the quality must be seriously deteriorated. Spring corn has been greatly improved by the rains, and the potatoes generally are looking strong, though with some appearance of disease in certain localities.

The wheat trade has regained its tone, the country markets are responding to the depression of London, which was evidently produced by one week's excessive supply. A more moderate scale of imports now seems likely, as foreign prices, in many ports, are on a parity with our own, threatening importers with the loss of freights, duty, and expenses, beyond the risk of voyage. English supplies have mostly run short, bringing up many markets is to 2s per quarter, and generally rates were firm, with some disinclination to accept the present prices. All this occurring at a time of most favorable weather, indicates an upward tendency, and should Russia and Prussia enter the present Italian strife, the finest weather would not be able to keep markets down.

Wyocena Matters.

WYOCENA, July 7, 1859.

To the Editors of the Free Democrat:—The house of Mr. Samuel Salisbury, 2 1-2 miles south-east of the village of Wyocena, was burnt to the ground on the 6th of July, at 10 o'clock P. M. Loss $800. No insurance. Most of the furniture was saved. The fire caught in the roof around the stove pipe. His friends have donated him upwards of $50 and considerable work towards the building of another house.

Wheat and corn looks well through this section of the country; it bids fair for a good yield. The June frost did not do any material damage to the crops. Winter wheat, was pretty much all killed. Rye is very good generally and the farmers have commenced cutting it. We had a light frost here on the 4th, but no damage was done by it. The weather is hot and dry. Rain is needed in order to have a good potato crop.

A HIGH OFFICER of the Chinese Empire was recently decapitated for favoritism in a literary examination. For a consideration the examiner surreptitiously exchanged essays, giving his favorite the benefit of a first rate one in place of one of no merit, for which he received some silver but lost all that portion of his person that is above the neck.

The Merchants of Milwaukee.

We were greatly surprised to see in the Wisconsin of Thursday last, an article, founded upon some remarks in the Watertown Democrat, reflecting upon the enterprise, public spirit and business capacity of our Milwaukee Merchants, compared with those of Chicago. Nothing can be more unfounded than the comparison so sought to be made. There is no city in the west which can boast of more liberal, upright and intelligent merchants than Milwaukee. Their stocks are well selected; their facilities for doing business are excellent; their credit will compare favorably with that of any Western Merchants; and customers who have once tried them, rarely need to be urged to call again. The idea expressed, that Chicago can supply Milwaukee, in the particulars named, and will gradually monopolize the trade, not of Wisconsin only, but of the entire North-West, unless our Milwaukee Merchants "follow in the footsteps" of Chicago, is simply absurd. We venture to say that County Merchants and others can get all the goods and supplies they need, in Milwaukee upon as favorable terms and at as cheap rates, as in Chicago.—And then there is the advantage in point of time, cost and distance of transportation, which will always be with Milwaukee.

Our Public Schools.

The Summer Term of our Public Schools closed yesterday, and children and Teachers will alike enjoy their six weeks' holiday during the warm weather of July and August. The examinations in all the schools were well attended and passed off satisfactorily. The only public exhibition given was that of the Second Ward High School, at the Spring Street Free Church on Thursday evening. The exercises consisted of Music, Declamations, Reading of Compositions, &c., and attracted a very large and appreciative audience. The scholars acquitted themselves remarkably well, and the applause of the lookers-on and listeners was frequent and hearty. The schools all re-open on the first Monday in September.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE LIGHT GUARD.—Our Milwaukee Light Guard celebrate their fourth anniversary to-day by a Target Excursion to the residence of Lieutenant GEORGE B. BINGHAM, some two miles south of Walker's Point Bridge.

Capt. STARKWEATHER has issued the following order relative to the excursion:

COMPANY ORDERS—NO. 25.

HEAD QUARTERS, MILWAUKEE LIGHT GUARD, 1st Company, 1st Regiment, W. S. M., MILWAUKEE, July 11, '59.

1st. Company and Staff Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates, will assemble at the Armory on the 16th inst., promptly at 9 o'clock A. M., for Target Practice, &c., in commemoration of the Company's Fourth Anniversary. Dress—White pants, blue dress coat, shakos, cross and belts. Fatigue cap will be attached to the left button of the coat, in the rear.

2nd. Band and Drum Corps will report to the Orderly for duty, at the same time precisely.

3rd. The Orderly Sergeant is hereby ordered to make two hundred ball cartridges for new muskets, and to replace sights for the 16th; and will, if necessary, detail a squad to assist him.

4th. No member of the Company will be entitled to a prize unless his account with the Treasurer is below the sum of $8.

5th. Gun Squad will fire thirteen guns at day-break, thirty-three guns at noon, and one gun at sunset.

By Order,
J. C. STARKWEATHER, Captain.
G. E. BINGHAM, Orderly.

The Company will leave the Armory promptly at 10 o'clock, and march to the Newhall House, where they will be reviewed by Major General HATHAWAY, after which they will go out to Lieut. BINGHAM'S.

The target practice will take place at 3 1-2 o'clock, a short distance from the camp ground, and dinner at 4 o'clock. At 6 1-2 o'clock evening parade, when the camp will be broken up and the Company return to the city.

The Honorary Members of the Company, with their Lady friends, are expected to attend the Excursion, which promises to be a pleasant one.

IT WILL BE SEEN by the proceedings of the Common Council, that Councillor ROSEBECK offered a resolution calling upon His Honor Judge FOOTE to stay all "fines for liquor licensing." Whatever "fines for liquor licensing" means, it is evident that the worthy member from the Fifth Ward feels interested in the matter over and above a salutary zeal for the public good, and we wait to hear why all proceedings in relation to the enforcement of legal fines made and provided for the especial benefit of liquor dealers should be stayed.

NOT GUILTY.—Dr. E. M. JOSLIN, who was arrested by the U. S. authorities charged with getting up, or assisting in getting up, fraudulent claims for bounty lands against the government, has been pronounced, on trial, which has just transpired at Madison, "Not Guilty." MONROE, who was tried at the same time, charged with the same offence, was also cleared.

REV. E. R. AMES, D. D., one of the Bishops of the M. E. Church, will preach to-morrow, (Sabbath A. M.,) at the Summerfield M. E. Church. Bishop AMES is a distinguished and eloquent divine, and has heretofore preached in this city to crowded and delighted audiences. He has recently removed his residence from Indianapolis to Chicago.

LINCOLN'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE having been removed to larger and better rooms over MATSON & LOOMIS' establishment, and having been re-invigorated generally, now stands pre-eminently forth as the institution where young men may get there money back again in the shape of educational advantages.

LECTURE.—The Rev. Dr. PYPER will lecture before the Young Men's Christian Association, to-morrow (Sabbath) evening at 7 3-4 o'clock, at his church. Subject:—"Science and Revelation," or "Moses and Geologists."

LINES

DEDICATED TO ALL THE [illegible] OF THE FRATERNITY OF A BEAUTIFUL SPIRIT.

"Flowers speak their sigh to the heart. No marvel is it then that woman loves them. They bear such touching similitude to her own history, repaying with graceful fragrance and beauty the hand which cherishes them and dying beneath the blighting influence of the world's coldness and neglect."

Yes, woman's heart is like the flower,
Cherish'd by fost'ring care,
Diffusing joy to all around,
But coldness cannot bear.

The slightest frost may nip the bud,
Destroy the choicest flower;
So woman's hopes are often crushed
And blighted in an hour.

As lives the perfume of the rose,
When every leaf is dead;
So woman's worth is often prized
Most when her spirit's fled.

As bends the modest lily's head,
To shun the sun's bright rays;
So woman—trembling woman, fears
To meet the public gaze.

She dwells amid the quiet scenes
Of home—her idol-spot;
Bestows her heart's affections pure,
On loved ones, ne'er forgot.

Milwaukee, June 13, 1859. AGNETA.

THE OPERA.—COOPER'S celebrated Opera Company will make their first appearance in Milwaukee on Monday evening, in Bellini's "Somnambula." The Buffalo Express, which is high authority on all matters pertaining to music, says:

THE COOPER OPERA TROUPE.—This company have very much exceeded the high expectations formed upon the strength of the praises bestowed upon them by the press in other cities. We have heard but one expression from any one who have attended either of the two performances which they have given, and that of the utmost delight and admiration.

Last night they presented that most effective of operatic compositions—"Il Trovatore"—and rendered it in surpassing style. The chorusses—particularly the grand anvil chorus—were splendidly given, the orchestral and the vocal part being equally fine. Mr. Cooper, the musical conductor, enjoys a world-wide reputation as a violinist, occupying a position among the very first performers upon that "King of instruments." A pupil of the great Paganini, he approaches his immortal master as nearly, perhaps, as any living violinist. For many years he held the position of leader of the London Philharmonic Society, and was acknowledged to be without a rival in England, either in handling of the bow, or the wielding of the conductor's baton.

Under the management and leadership of such a musician, anything but a superior company cannot possibly be looked for; and the most capable judges have pronounced this to be, just what ought to be expected, the best operatic troupe that ever visited our country.

The prima donna, Miss Annie Milner, is eminently possessed of both the gift which the opera demands in combination. She is not only a fine vocalist, but a charming actress. Attractive in personal appearance, easy, graceful, and winning in her manners upon the stage, spirited and appreciative in her representations of varied character, and her expressions of feeling and passion, possessing a rich and musical voice of great compass and thorough culture, she is well fitted to take the lead in the very best operatic performances, and might never shrink from a comparison with artists, whose foreign names and titles have created a greater furor of admiration.

Mr. Bowler, the tenor, deserves almost as much praise, alike for his voice, his style of singing and his acting, as the prima donna. Both nature and art have done much to fit him for the operatic stage. The basso, Mr. Cook, and the baritone, Mr. Rudolphsen, are both excellent vocalists and good actors.—The remaining members of the company are likewise capable, in every respect, for their several parts.

MUSIC TEACHING.—We invite the attention of those desiring to acquire proficiency in the "Divine Art," to the card of Professor DE SOBOLEW, who has recently taken up his residence in our city, with the intention of practicing his profession. Professor SOBOLEW is a gentleman of great accomplishments, having been Director of the Academy of Music, and Professor of thorough bass at the University of Koenigsberg, in Prussia, from 1844 to 1854, and latterly director of the Opera at Bremen. He is well-known to the musical world as the composer of the famous oratorios Johannes and Lazarus, and the operas Salvator, Imogen, Velleda, Prophet of Khorassen, Zisca, Cumalis, &c., &c.—He is also the author of various excellent works on Music, and was an intimate friend of the celebrated LISZT.

Those who desire a classical knowledge of music, will do well to avail themselves of the opportunity which Professor SOBOLEW offers.

GOT AN OFFICE.—Our old acquaintance, Mr. CHARLES S. HURLEY, who has recently become connected with the Ozaukee County Democrat, has been appointed Deputy Collector at Ozaukee, vice P. W. HOYT, removed. His associate, Mr. BOHAN, was lately appointed P. M. at the same place, vice R. L. GOVE, removed, but has not yet succeeded in getting possession of the office, DICK GOVE hanging on to it, like a good fellow. We suppose, from Mr. HURLEY'S appointment to a Federal office, that KNOW-Nothings are coming into favor with the BUCHANAN Administration and the "National Democracy."

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION, who were among the sufferers of the late fire, have secured a hall for Reading Room and meetings in BOWMAN'S new building, on Milwaukee Street, adjoining the Post Office, and are to have it fitted up and open early next week. They will resume their usual weekly Union Prayer Meetings next Friday evening. Their Rooms will be open at the usual hours—5 to 10 P. M., daily, and 12 M. to 7 P. M., on Sundays, and are to be well supplied with valuable reading matter of all kinds as heretofore.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE, Messrs. KANE & SON, has long been a popular stopping place for our most substantial visitors. An evidence of its popularity may be found in the fact that it is always full. And those who count on a hotel's condition by counting the empty beds, would in this case count without their host. The beds are full,—and we trust we may be excused for adding—not of big lugs, in the literal sense, but frequently with those creatures, in the popular acceptation of the term.

THE steamer Ontonagon, of the Collingwood Line, left here yesterday with about 80 passengers on board, among whom we noticed Hon. LYMAN TRUMBULL, Senator from Illinois, and Judge MANNIN, of the Supreme Court of Chicago. The travel by this route is increasing, and passengers bound East can find pleasant accommodations on board the boats.

MUNICIPAL COURT—HIS HONOR, JUDGE FOOTE, PRESIDING.—FRIDAY, July 15.—Chas. Kranese, shooting in city limits, fined 2$ and costs.

Anna Kityberger, disorderly, penalty and cost, $4.84.

Anna Benisch, disorderly, penalty and cost, $2.91.

THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION, (brought before the audience assembled to listen to the Anniversary exercises of the Second Ward High School,) was adopted.

Resolved, That we tender the thanks of this audience in behalf of the Second Ward High School, to the trustees of the Spring Street Congregational Church, for opening their beautiful and commodious house of worship, for these anniversary exercises.

HABEAS CORPUS.—A young woman with a child in her arms about a month old, sentenced by Judge FOOTE to State Prison for one year for larceny, was yesterday before Judge SMITH of the County Court, on habeas corpus, to inquire into the validity of her imprisonment. She has been discharged.

THE SECOND LECTURE.—The Rev. Mr. DAY, of the "Church of the Pilgrims," will deliver the second lecture of the series at Good Templars Hall at half-past four o'clock to-morrow afternoon. Everybody is invited to be present, as there will be something particularly interesting for all.

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

NEW STAR PAPERS; OR VIEWS AND EXPERIENCES OF RELIGIOUS SUBJECTS. By HENRY WARD BEECHER. New York: Derby & Jackson, 119 Nassau street, 1859.

This volume is made up chiefly from articles which were originally published in the Independent, but contains also several addresses, besides the famous speech before the Tract Society. Although not, perhaps, destined to hold a high rank in permanent literature, the book has the ring of the true metal, and is throughout a fair specimen of the BEECHER.

Who does not know BEECHER? Who has not seen, or, at least, read of him? Who does not seek with eager avidity every published production of his pen? Who does not rush with the crowd to hear him lecture?—Who thinks a visit to New York complete without crossing the ferry to listen to one sermon from the most popular preacher on the continent? Who, that ever saw and heard him, does not recall, with vivid impressions, some striking expression, or some thrilling burst of eloquence which will always remain illuminating a bright page upon the tablets of memory? Who does not admire BEECHER?

Disbelieve his theology you may: denounce his politics you may: but you cannot deny him the splendid position of the most popular pulpit orator of his age. You may differ with him on every open question of theology and politics, but you can not refuse to acknowledge that no man in our times has approached so nearly to the highest standard of those requisites which constitute, all in one, a powerful reformer, a powerful writer and speaker, and a powerful Minister of Christ.—He is as popular as he is able: as able as he is generous: as generous as he is true to his trust.

The most striking proofs of the intellectual and moral power which BEECHER wields are to be found in the unexampled popularity obtained by him in every department that he has attempted; and in the pious coveting of his influence, which is frequently betrayed by those of different creeds and different professions. Whether delivering an elaborate essay before the most fastidious audience, or a fervid appeal to ragged sinners in a revival, or a Fourth of July oration to a crowd, or a semi-political harangue to a still more promiscuous assembly of the sovereigns, he wins unreserved applause, and unqualified admiration. The members of every christian denomination agree, at least, in allowing him honesty, courage and transcendant talent.—You shall hear the Catholic regret that he is not a follower of the immortal St. Ignatius. You shall hear the Episcopalian cautiously lament that he is not in the regular Apostolic succession. You shall hear a Universalist express his wonder that a man of such a liberal mind, and such grand conceptions of nature and of God, should not preach free salvation in store for all in "the land we have not seen." You shall hear men of other occupations mourn that such a splendid man was lost to their professions. And BEECHER would, indeed, have been great anywhere. At the Bar, courts would have listened with willing ear to his cogent reasoning, and his well arranged arguments, and juries would have carried away by the strong common sense, the captivating manner and the magnetic power over the heart which BEECHER does and would possess in whatever walk of life.

An exclusive devotion to letters would have earned for him a reputation brilliant and lasting. Anywhere he would be among the first; but the pulpit is, after all, BEECHER'S proper place. He is a born advocate of Christ.

Nowhere else would he have found scope for every gift, an adequate theater for the exercise of his powers. His warm sympathies, his tireless energy, his eloquence, his originality, his knowledge of human nature, all have in that sphere of action ample room and verge enough.

The Pulpit has need of all that he or any other man can bring to it, of intellect, of imagination, of logic, of rhetoric; and has a field for them all. Whatever may be drawn from man's history or destiny; from feeling or from faith; from the universe or from the Bible; is fairly within the dominion of the pulpit. The orator of the pulpit has a wide and varied sphere if he but use the materials it affords. The day is sacred, the audience intelligent and favorably disposed; prayer lifts the soul in aspiration and music tills the heart with harmony. The topics are exhaustless; the interests at stake eternal.

"The preacher like the prophet in the mount, must behold the creatures and scenes around him with unsealed vision; and when the eye of flesh can only see the things of earth and time, his must pierce the veil of matter and mortality. To him the highest, the sublimest view of this mighty globe itself is that it is the place where a deathless humanity is called for the skies. Whatever there is in the love of universal man, that interests the philanthropist and makes the world a common field of labor; whatever there is in love of country, that fans the fire of the political breast; whatever there is in history, with all its grand and solemn exhibitions of the changeable, that feeds themeditations of senator or sage; whatever there is in the tendency of events, that occupies the speculative on the progression of humanity,—are all tributary to the preacher, and in the highest, noblest sense."

Mr. BEECHER'S reputation, in spite of the sneers which once set him down as "a mere sensation preacher," has steadily increased until he is now in a position of influence and honorable fame such as is seldom attained by a man of his years and difficult for any to sustain. He has fairly won it; he is worthy of it; and we think he will not suffer it to wane or wax dim.

This last book of Mr. BEECHER'S is characterized by the same marked peculiarities of style and argument, and the same earnest, whole-souled, noble goodness, which heretofore, in books, in the pulpit and from the rostrum, have delighted all classes of readers and of hearers. Whatever may be the faults of this eminent divine, he is at least free from bigotry, from hypocrisy and from all manner of cant. He manifests everywhere a lofty contempt for the mean and the small, a faithful and most devoted love of his cause, and and a noble catholicity of sentiment, embracing all and all alike.

As evidence of his broad and tolerant charity, we address the following passage from the book before us. It is from an article published in the Independent on the Episcopal service:

"Whether the Episcopal Church is one that builds up men in holiness is not an open question. There are are too many saints rejoicing in heaven, and too many of the noblest Christians yet laboring on earth, who have derived their religious life through the teachings and offices of that Church, to leave any impartial mind in doubt. We have not a word of controversy with Christian men who accept the service of that Church as the best means of enriching their path. And when in prayer we ask God's blessing on his Church on earth, we mean that Church as much as our own. We mean every brotherhood of christian men who are, according to their best light, worshipping God and loving men."

Again, the Examiner having assailed him for lecturing before a benevolent association of members of THEODORE PARKER'S Church, and charged him with thereby "lending lustre" to the infidel society, he replies with much warmth, denying the imputation, but declaring that while differing irreconcilably with Mr. PARKER in his religious views, he will never hesitate to accord to him or any other man, honor where honor is due. He also says: "When in the pestilence in New Orleans, the Sisters of Charity did not count their lives dear to them, but night and day, faultless of death and defiant of fatigue, gave their utmost being to the care of the miserable sick, must I, a protestant, refuse admiration or fellowship for fear a 'certain lustre' would shine upon the Roman Catholic Church."

And again, in a Fourth of July Oration, he says: "Let us remember the duty of toleration of men that differ in the extremest points from us. Let us accord to them that right which we assert for ourselves—the right to believe what we will—the right to defend what we think—the right to express what we believe. Their rights and ours are the same, and if upon that common freedom Liberty cannot stand, let her go to the ground. I am not afraid to venture."

Everybody is familiar with the story, started some years ago, that Mr. BEECHER began a sermon with the startling impropriety of the sentence: "It is damned hot." He took the pains to declare it a lie out of whole cloth. But he says that since this denial, the story not only goes a good deal better than before, but many persons are reported to him as asserting, on their personal veracity, that they were present and heard the speech. "Of course," writes Mr. BEECHER, such persons do all, without exception, tell a willful falsehood; but we dare not say so publicly, for fear that they will fall into spasms of affidavits and convert their guilt into permanent form past all repentance."

The address before the Boston American Tract Society, which concludes the volume is, to say the least, one of the finest pieces of argumentative eloquence that has been recently produced. There is about it a glow of righteous indignation, and pervading it a tone of passionate vehemence, subsiding occasionally into more of sorrow than of anger. It is the most elaborate thing in the book, and will long be read with interest. Those who listened to it say that it was an impressive discourse, perfectly delighting his friends and over whelming his foes.

DIRECT NAVIGATION BETWEEN THE LAKES AND NEW YORK CITY.—We learn from the Cleveland papers that the steam canal propeller S. B. Raggles, arrived at that port a few days since, from New York city, via the Hudson river and Erie canal—seven days from New York, and twenty-three hours from Buffalo.

This is the inauguration of an important enterprise, premature of our Lake commerce and its vast interests. As soon as the Erie canal enlargement shall be completed, these canal propellers will make regular trips from our Lake ports to New York.

The Raggles is described as "a double-deck canal-lake boat, 91 feet long, 17 1-2 breadth, 9 feet hold, with main deck of 6 1-2 feet, propelled by steam and carried 1,800 barrels of flour. She burns three tons of coal every twenty-four hours, and makes six miles an hour, averaging five days from Buffalo to New York."

She cleared Cleveland on Saturday on her return to New York, with 2,200 bushels of wheat and 600 barrels of flour, and expects to be in New York seven days from Cleveland. She takes one or two boats in tow at Buffalo, and on her arrival at New York, will return to Cleveland with a cargo of merchandise.

POSITION OF AFFAIRS IN ITALY.—The London News observes that a grand victory and a great defeat, like that of Solferino, cannot but tend powerfully either to bring about an early peace, or to cause a serious extension of war. The time has come now for Prussia to declare her intentions. She must do so in fulfillment of the declarations with which she has accompanied the mobilization of part of the army, and it is well understood that her diplomacy has been awaiting some signal of military event, like that of Friday last, in order to propose terms to the belligerents. The Daily News adds: Let Prussia then urge on Austria the acceptance of those rightful necessary terms, upon which the Emperor of the French is ready to return within his frontiers. Austria will be stronger for having restored to a nation its rights. The portentious march of the French army will be stayed. Europe will see its peace re-established upon a firmer basis than it has known since the Congress of Vienna. But it is to be feared that Austria will not yet adopt this course. Although every day that the war lasts the sons of Italy will become more hardened in war, every success will make it impossible for the French to recede.

MR. COBDEN.—The Cork Constitution gives some particulars of the reception of Mr. COBDEN upon his arrival at Liverpool from the United States on the 29th ult. He was received by a deputation from Rochdale, and addresses were presented by the Reformers of Liverpool.

Mr. COBDEN replied and said he had found a most cordial appreciation of the Free Trade principles in the United States. There was a cordial feeling towards Great Britain. With respect to war, he said he believed England was as well able to maintain a neutral position as the United States.

The American sympathy was in favor of the Italians. Mr. COBDEN declined to say anything of his appointment to the Board of Trade, till he had first acknowledged Lord Palmerston's letter, offering him the post.—Referring to physical and customs reform, he was in favor of their complete abolition and of substituting at no distant day of a direct tax on property and a moderate tax on labor, which he thought would make the country far more prosperous. Replying to a deputation from the Peace Society, he expressed his firm adhesion to the principles of peace.

A SPANISH EXECUTION.—At Madrid, a few weeks ago, two persons, a man named CABEZUDO, and a female named BERNAOLA, his mistress, who were some time back condemned to death for murder, were executed, in accordance with the Spanish custom, by the garrotte. The woman was first taken to the scaffold, seated on an ass, her features dreadfully pale, and her eyes red with weeping. She repeatedly kissed a crucifix. She had to be helped to seat herself in the chair of execution, and her hands and feet having been bound, the iron collar was put around her neck. When the collar was pressed, she twice raised her hands convulsively, but the moment after was dead. The man afterwards walked quietly to the scaffold, assended it unaided, offered up a prayer after seating himself in the chair, and then allowed the executioner to perform his work.

HUNGARIAN REVOLUTION.—The New York Herald has information by private letters received from Genoa, that an insurrection movement in respect to Hungary, under leadership of Gens. VETTER and KISS, has been organized in Wallachia, and that a corps was, at last accounts, marching towards the Austrian frontier, and was about to enter Transylvania by one of the mountion passes by which the Russians entered in 1849. If this revolution should assume any formidable proportions it will greatly increase the extent of the political imbroglio in Europe.

Of Interest to the Parents and Friends of the Deaf and Dumb.

The law which prohibited deaf mutes from free instruction in the State Institution for the education of the Deaf and Dumb unless their parents presented a certificate of their inability to pay, was repealed by the last Legislature.

The advantages of the Institute are again freely offered to all deaf mutes of suitable age and capacity. Instruction, Board, &c., are provided for the pupils without charge to the parents. Their parents are expected to furnish them the necessary clothing, and to pay their traveling expenses to and from the Institute at the opening and close of each term. Special provision is made for the indigent.—The term is of ten months duration, commencing on the first Wednesday in September and closing on the last Wednesday of June. Applicants cannot ordinarily be received at any other time than at the opening of the Term in September.

The Institute is located at Delavan, in Walworth Co., on the line of the Racine and Mississippi R. R.

J. S. OFFICER,
Principal of Ins. D. and D.

N. B.—Editors who feel interested in the elevation of this unfortunate class are respectfully urged to call attention to the above.

TURKEY.—Accounts by the City of Baltimore state that the excitement in the European provinces of Turkey is on the increase, and it is the opinion of those who ought to know that an outbreak cannot be much longer deferred. It seems probable that Servia will take the lead, and all eyes are turned on Novi Bazaar, which, from its position, is a place of the utmost importance to the Turkish army. To this point it is probable that the undivided attention of the Montenegrins will also be directed, as they have raised the seige of the Fortress of Klobuck, after several ineffectual efforts to carry it by assault.—Prince COUZA'S election is still unsanctioned by the PORTE, and, inasmuch as he is decidedly anti-Russian, it was thought that the Grand Duke's visit to Constantinople boded him no good.

THE AUSTRIAN ARTILLERY OFFICERS continue to speak unfavorably of the French rifled gun, which fouls so much that it must be continually "washed" out. The shell rarely explodes, and the leaden knobs on it, which ought to fit into the grooves of the rifle are almost always crushed.

Ex-Senator Rhett on Union and Disunion.

Hon. R. B. Rhett, formerly a Democratic Senator in Congress from South Carolina, delivered an oration at Grahamville, in that State, on the 4th. What he thinks of Union and Disunion, of the relative position of Republicans and Democrats on that question, and of the slavery agitation in general, will be seen from the following extracts, which we take from his speech as reported in the Charleston News:

"When in the Senate of the United States, I deemed it expedient, plainly and frankly, to advocate a dissolution of this Union, and the establishment of a Southern Confederacy, I was not so ignorant of human affairs as not to know that my position was exceedingly adverse to the greater part of the people of the United States, and to none more so than to the political abolitionists, the Sewards, the Hales and the Sumners of the North. For this Union was absolutely necessary to their carrying out their policy—the subjugation of the South. They are, therefore, Union men at all hazards. You have made them Union men. For, with nothing in the North to support their pretensions, they are the last people to desire a dissolution of the Union."

"After the compromise of 1850, what was the result? Have you had that peace and quietness, that peace and safety which was told you that compromise would bring you? Why, ever since the foundation of the government, has it ever been so fierce as within the last few years? The present President of the United States is a practical exponent of public opinion. Personally, he is my friend. In the controversy of 1852, he wrote a letter to a meeting in Philadelphia. In that he says: 'The agitation at the North on the subject of domestic slavery will have its day. We have already resisted, or passed the crisis. Should this prove to be the case, the country will be the better for the agitation, and the atmosphere be purer.' That was in 1852.—But how is it now? Mr. Buchanan was elected President of the United States, and before the first Congress met, his administration was prostrated on this very subject of slavery. Then was got up the Kansas compromise, the most discreditable and most disgraceful that was ever brought up on a public occasion."

So much for the notorious English bill.—Mr. Rhett further said:

"My friends, prognostics of a Union in the South are not without encouragement. There are premonitions of a moral as well as physical remedy. Did you hear the mutterings of the tempest coming on the eve of the Presidential election? It is true heretofore our policy has been submission. In that policy we have lifted up some of the most bitter enemies of the North. It has been in vain that such as a Dickinson and an Everett have told them you will dissolve this Union. Are you willing to be ruled by such men as the Wilsons, the Chases and the Summers of the North? * * *

"Let us make up our minds: the North becomes sectionalized; we will sectionalize for our defence. We have done this. If we do not sectionalize for our defence, the result is we may be overwhelmed. Throughout the continent of the Southern States we see the people of the South uniting their forces. The Whig party are taking the position for the rights of the South, and the Democratic party dare not fail."

"If, in the Presidential election, our rights are victorious, then we have a guarantee and an augury of a better future; if, on the contrary, which I think most likely to be the case, then, my friends, let us separate from the North; let the glorious day-spring of a Southern Confederacy at length arise upon our troubled counsels."

No Slave-Code—No Horse-Code.

The Mobile Register, one of the most influential of the Southern Press, is conducted by John Forsyth, late Minister to Mexico, son of a former Secretary of State. In a recent number it gives its views:

The true doctrine is to regard and treat slaves as property, and afford them all the protection by law which any other species of property is entitled. The "theory" that is in our opinion "untenable" is to discriminate between this and other kinds of property.—There is no warrant for the distinction that we can find in the Constitution or elsewhere. We see no more claim to call upon Congress to make a "slave code," for the Territories than to make a "horse-code," and if Congress were to make forty thousand such codes, there would be neither slaves nor horses in the territories if the people did not want them, and there would be no occasion for any such Congressional code. This is just one of those stubborn facts that are proof against philology, casuistry or logic. The dispute is about nothing, and will come to nothing.—Before the Charleston Convention meets, the people of America will find this out. Let the politicians look out, for, as Senator Thompson, of Kentucky, says, "It will be dangerous to stand on the outside platform when the cars are in motion."

The above is re-published by the Atlas & Argus, approvingly. We will also endorse it, if the principle is carried to a further extent. If Congress has no right to pass laws for the reclamation of strayed horses, cattle, or other "property," why should it enact laws to recover strayed or runaway slaves, who happen to cross the lines of the Free States? If Mr. Forsyth's logic is good in the one case, why is it not just as strong in the other? The inconsistencies into which slavery inevitably leads those who attempt to legislate for the protection of rights of property in human beings, can never be escaped from. It is impossible that this unavoidable clashing shall not eventually destroy the abhorrent institution. Those who seek to prevent its propagation and perpetuity, are true philanthropists, lovers of their country and of their kind. Jefferson's great reputation rests upon no surer foundation than his opposition to slavery, which is perpetually upon record.—Modern statesmen, who defend slavery, or evade its unavoidable issues, will find themselves remembered, if their memory survives at all, only to be despised.—Rochester Dem.

Vermont Republican State Convention.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 12.

The Vermont Republican State Convention assembled at Battleboro to-day. Ex-Gov. Fairbanks, of St. Johnsbury, presided, with W. H. Penniman, of Wixdoski, and B. W. Bartholomew, of Washington, as Vice-Presidents, and C. J. Gleason and A. N. Swain, of Bellows Falls, and J. T. C. Cook, of Bennington, as Secretaries. The present State Officers were re-nominated, as follows:

For Governor.—Hiland Hall, of Bennington.

Lieut. Governor.—Barnabas Martin, of Chelsea.

Treasurer.—Henry M. Bates, of Montpelier.

The resolutions reiterate the Philadelphia platform; condemn the extravagence and Pro-Slavery character of the Buchanan Administration; maintain the right of naturalized citizens to protection against the Cass doctrine, and approve a homestead law.

Military Science.

The General-in-Chief of the United States army and the Secretary of War, seem to have studied somewhat closely the operations of the combatants in the great war now raging in Europe. At least we suppose so from their action, for since the destructive effect of the French rifled cannon has been made known, a board of officers of the army has been testing a rifled cannon in this country, and an interesting report has been made thereon, fully sustaining the judgement formed from reading the accounts of the battles in Lombardy. And General Scott has issued an army order, which is so important that we copy it below:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
New York, June 28, 1859.
GENERAL ORDERS, No. 3.

As the reports of Inspectors General evidence that the subject of bayonet exercise and target practice for small arms has been almost entirely neglected by the troops—especially the bayonet exercise—the General-in-Chief calls the attention of all officers concerned to the subject, and directs that, hereafter, the troops be regularly and systematically instructed in the full use of the several weapons placed in their hands.

Inspectors General, as a general rule, will report particularly on the merits and defects of the several articles of new invention or contrivance now in use, or which may hereafter be introduced in any departments, such as arms, equipments, &c., &c., and, in their respective reports, besides giving their own opinion, they will also set forth, as far as possible, what they may understand to be the judgment of the service, discriminating between the principle and mere construction of the article, in order that the merits in the former may not be unjustly sacrificed because of defects which can be remedied in the latter.

Inspectors General will, moreover, be careful to obtain from the chiefs of the several staff departments a list of all such articles.

By command of Brevet Lieutenant General SCOTT.

L. THOMAS, Assistant Adjutant General.

The great military sagacity of General Scott is clearly visible in the latter paragraph of this order, which contains a vast deal more than the mere words express. It is quite evident from this order that General Scott desires to inculcate the lesson, reflected by all history, that warfare is progressive in its character, like everything else: that no nation can be safe which does not watchfully keep informed of the latest improvements in military science, and have her soldiers trained to a knowledge of them. Superiority in a weapon has not unfrequently decided the fate of a battle.

This order which we quote, contains two important lessons to the army, one of which we have just mentioned, to-wit: that the officers must be animated by a degree of intelligence in their occupation and seek to progress with military science. The other applies to the discipline of the infantry, one of the hints gathered from the battles in Italy, that the bayonet is a much more formidable weapon, when properly wielded, than has been commonly supposed. In former times, the bayonet, was the peculiar instrument with which British victories were achieved, for the solid mass of the sturdy British infantry could always be depended upon in a charge, their burly frames and invincible courage carrying forward their dreadful line of glittering steel with unflinching steadiness. Of late years it had fallen into neglect, because of the tremendous range of the firearms, which, it was thought, would obviate the necessity of an attack at close quarters. Yet the French army in Italy, with fire-arms of unequalled destructiveness, has mainly gained its battles by the furious bayonet charges of the Zouaves and Turcos. The Austrians, though taken by surprise in this respect, seem to have answered by a counter movement of the bayonet, and as their men are not deficient in courage, and rather superior to the French in physique, besides being as steady in their lines as so many dumb pieces of machinery, the reader might possibly think that the victory was owing to what is called the "dash" of the French—their impetuosity and fire. This may have amounted to something, but the secret lying behind it all was that the French infantry have been trained to a kind of bayonet exercise of which the Austrian battalions were totally ignorant.

The Austrian soldier can stand stock still in his place, and hold his gun, with the bayonet on it, till he be shot or cut down in his tracks, or he can charge forward with the same steadiness. The Frenchman, besides all this, is taught to wield his weapon as an officer does a sword, to parry and thrust, so that when his bayonet crosses that of his opponent he knows how to make his way with terrible effect. This requires an intelligence and courage, as well as strength, which brings back modern warfare more nearly to the test of personal prowess than it has been since the invention of gunpowder. But, more than intelligence and strength, it demands long and severe training to make a soldier skilled in the use of his weapon, so that he may be able to fence as well with a bayonet as his officer with a sword. Attached to every French infantry barrack there is a school for training in the use of the bayonet, and the result is visible in the war now pending.

General Scott's order says that the bayonet exercise has been almost entirely neglected by our troops. We presume that the Austrian army was not in a much better condition, for some of the letters written by officers pronounce the use of the bayonet savage. This is probably the condition of things everywhere out of France, the same impression prevailing that the astonishing improvements in cannon and small arms has rendered bayonet charges almost impossible.

For a time it was thought that military science had rendered pitched battles also improbable. But in the present war only such contests have been fought. In truth fortifications are not of much account in the face of such artillery as the French possess. Earthworks alone are formidable, and even they, though managed by the genius of Todleben, only served to whelm Sebastopol in awful ruin.

It is, therefore, clear that no military organization, however numerous, no dogged personal courage, no matter how backed by physical strength, can suffice to insure victory in a war. The triumph is to be won by genius, skill, superior training and improved tactics. And for this a nation must do something more than copy the improvements of its cotemporaries. It must make some of its own, or in a great contest may be found wanting.—North American Gazette.

PROCLAMATION OF THE AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.—The following order of the day appeared at Verona on the 18th inst:

"I to-day take the supreme command of the armies which are opposed to the enemy, and at the head of my gallant troops I will continue the struggle which Austria was obliged to begin in defence of her honor and rights.

Soldiers, your devotion to me and the brilliant courage you have already exhibited, are guarantees that you will, under my command, obtain those successes which our fatherland expects.

FRANCIS JOSEPH."

ASSESSMENT OF ROCK COUNTY.—The county board of equalizers adjourned on Tuesday afternoon. The following is the total assessment of the county:

Real estate,	$11,175,513 99
Personal property,	1,346,249 07
Total,	$12,522,050 06

The return of personal property in Beloit was incomplete, and is estimated at $265,000.—Janesville Gazette.

THE CROPS.—From personal observations and intelligence received from farmers of various parts of our county, we learn that crops are fully as promising as usual this season. Wheat is short but there is a pretty good stock on the ground; corn looks healthy, though somewhat backward; rye promises a heavy yield; oats and barley coming on finely; upland grass rather light; potatoes and all vegetables appear well. Our farmers begin to hold up their heads.—Waukesha Democrat, July 13.

☞ FEVER AND AGUE.—A CASE OF EIGHTY MONTHS' STAND-ING CURED BY BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS.—Michael Kelly, No. 117 Seventh, near Grant st., Pittsburgh, says:

"First July, while running on the river, on a steamboat plying between Natchez and New Orleans, I was taken with Fever and Ague. For eight long months I suffered with this dreadful disease. The greater part of this time I was unable to work, and spent at least fifty dollars for different medicines, but found no permanent relief. Three weeks ago one of my friends insisted upon my trying Boerhave's Holland Bitters, saying that a cure was guaranteed. After taking it for one week, I must say I was a sound man. I have been at work now for two weeks, and have had no return of the Chills or Fever, whatever."

I certify that the above statement is true.

THE BATTLE-FIELD.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

Once this soft turf, this rivulet's sands,
Were trampled by a hurrying crowd,
And fiery hearts and armed hands
Encountered in the battle cloud.

Ah! never shall the land forget
How gushed the life-blood of her brave—
Gushed warm with hope and high resolve yet,
Upon the soil they fought to save.

Now all is calm, and fresh, and still;
Alone the chirp of flitting bird,
And talk of children on the hill,
And bell of wandering kine are heard.

No solemn host goes trailing by
The black-mouthed gun and staggering wain;
Men start not at the battle-cry—
Oh! be it never heard again!

Soon rested those who fought; but thou
Who minglest in the harder strife
For truths which men receive not now,
Thy warfare only ends with life.

A friendless warfare! lingering long
Through weary day and weary year;
A wild and many-weaponed throng
Hang on thy front, and flank, and rear.

Yet nerve thy spirit to the proof,
And blanch not at thy chosen lot;
The timid good may stand aloof,
The sage may frown—yet faint thou not.

Nor heed the shaft too surely cast,
The foul and hissing bolt of scorn;
For with thy side shall dwell, at last,
The victory of endurance born.

Truth, crushed to earth, shall rise again—
The eternal years of God are hers;
But Error, wounded, writhes in pain,
And dies among his worshipers.

Yea, though thou lie upon the dust,
When they who helped thee flee in fear,
Die full of hope and manly trust,
Like those who fell in battle here!

Another hand thy sword shall wield,
Another hand the standard wave,
Till from the trumpet's mouth is pealed
The blast of triumph o'er thy grave.

CASH SYSTEM.

HAVING ADOPTED THE CASH SYSTEM for the past year, seeing its advantages, particularly to our customers, we have established to continue selling our goods for Cash the coming year. We will sell our goods as low as the lowest to customers, at such prices that we know are better than they can do elsewhere, taking quality into consideration.

We are confident the CASH SYSTEM is the only true one, and shall make increased efforts to build upon Our Basis, and no house can successfully compete with us.

RETAIL DEPARTMENT.

To this Department, we call the especial attention of all in the city, country, and places tributary to Milwaukee, as a selected stock of goods can be here in the West. Our stock is larger, the assortment more numerous, and quality of the goods, superior to that which can generally be found in Milwaukee Stores.

Please call upon us, or send your orders, and we will endeavor to please you, both in prices and goods. TERMS CASH.

TINNERS' STOCK.

We keep constantly on hand a fine stock of TIN PLATE, COPPER, ZINC, WIRE, SHEET IRON, and everything used by Tinners. Our prices are low, and we are prepared to compete with any other place. ORDERS SOLICITED. Please send in your orders with the cash, and the goods will be shipped without delay. apr15.

THE SENTINEL.

COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY, July 15th, 1859.

Money Matters, &c.

The money market, like most other markets just at present, is rather quiet, and the only perceptible change since we last alluded to it, is that currency is not quite so abundant. The banks, nevertheless, have been taking all the offerings of good mercantile paper coming from their customers. Exchange is plenty, comparatively, selling on New York, at 1¼ premium, and buying at 1¼. Gold is selling at the same rate' Brokers' not doing much in the loaning business, and rates, as usual, 1 to 2 ₰ cent a month.

Breadstuffs, &c.

The following table shows the movements of breadstuffs at this point for the past 24 hours:

Receipts.

	Flour, bbls.	Wheat, bus.	Oats, bus.	Corn, bus.	Barley, bus.	Rye, bus.
By M&Mis RR	....	2,250	727	553	....	....
By M&M RR..	....	854	....	....	....	....
By Lake.....	....	895	....	....	....	....
Total.....	8,182	727	553	....	....	....

Shipments.

To Oswego.....	....	16,500	....	....	....	....
To Buffalo.....	700	....	6,700	....	....	....
Total	700	16,500	6,700	....	....	....

Those who supposed that the wheat market had touched bottom several days since, will be not a little surprised to learn that it declined 5 to 10c to-day, and closed with a downward tendency, the result of a corresponding movement in the eastern markets. The total sales do not exceed 2,500 bus at 75 to 75c for No. 1 spring, and 90c for extra club, indicating a decline of 5c on the former, and 10c on the latter. Nothing whatever was done in flour, and we are therefore unable to give reliable quotations. The heavy decline at New York to-day must influences prices here, and under the present circumstances buyers would not probably go beyond $4,75@4,85 for the best country extras, but we do not think that any considerable amount could be purchased at these figures. Holders do not appear to press the market. Oats, corn, and other grains quiet and unchanged. Potatoes very dull and tending downward. Hides steady, Highwines ditto. Wool quiet but firm

CHICAGO, JULY 14.—Receipts: 1,205 bbls flour, 10,205 bus wheat, 48,178 bus corn, 1,714 bus oats. Shipments: 1,127 bbls flour, 24,716 bus wheat, 20,495 bus corn, 1,000 bus barley.

There was a good attendance on 'Change this morning, but the business transacted was limited. Wheat is more firmly held, and an advance of 1@2c gained on Change; but it fell off to the old figures before the close of yesterday's square. The transactions did not exceed 20,000 bushels of all grades, at $1,25 for New No. 1 on track; $1,15 for new No. 1 red on track; $1,00@2 for old No. 1 red; 85c for old No. 2 red; and 60@70c for rejected spring—closing heavy at the inside quotations.—Flour continues dull and depressed. Corn was in active request and advanced 2c, with sales of about 80,000 bushels at 38½c for canal afloat and 39@39½c for No. 1 in store—closing firm. Oats were dull and nominally 2@3c lower. Nothing doing in rye or barley.—Tallow scarce and in demand at 10½@10¾c. Hides buoyant. Wool quiet, with sales of three quarter blood at 31@32c. Old potatoes almost unsaleable; new scarce.

MILWAUKEE DAILY MARKET.

FRIDAY—7 P. M.

FREIGHTS—Rates on wheat 3½c to Buffalo, and 5½c to Oswego; flour by steam to Buffalo 15c.

FLOUR—Market very dull and nominally lower. No sales.

WHEAT—Market closed at a decline of 4 to 5c on No. 1 spring, and 10c on extra club. Sales 550 bus No. 1 at 75c; 500 bus at 75c, 700 bus extra club at 90c; and 300 bus extra No. 1 at 80c.

OATS—Sales 150 bus at 26c.

CORN—Sales 320 bus shelled at 70c. Generally held at 72@74c.

RYE—Quoted nominally at $1.

BARLEY—Unsaleable.

POTATOES—Very dull and selling at 50@60c for ordinary to choice old. New are selling to-day at $1.

EGGS—Selling at 9@10c in bbls, and rather dull.

HIDES—In good demand at the following range of prices: green 7@8c; salted 8½@9½c; dry salted 14@15c; dry flint 16@18c.

WOOL—Firm but quiet, and prices steady. Sales 150 lbs ¾ blood at 35c; 84 lbs ¾ blood at 40c.

HIGHWINES—Steady at 26½c. No sales.

RECEIPTS BY RAILROAD.

RECEIVED BY MILWAUKEE & MISSISSIPPI RAILROAD, July 15.—2,250 bus wheat, 553 bus corn, 727 bus oats, 20bus beans, 20 bus potatoes, 3 bbls eggs, 911 lbs hides, 48 lbs butter, 150 lbs poultry, 5,015 lbs rags, 10,505 lbs wool.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

☞ The following is a list of vessels which passed Detroit on Wednesday:

Up—Propr. Iron City, Nile; brig Bay City; schrs. Wales, Twin Brothers.

Down—Stmr. North Star; props. Mineral Rock, Mayflower; schrs. Comely, Philanrope; bark Adriatic.

☞ The propeller Globe, which went ashore on Pt. Pelee last Saturday, was got off safe, and arrived at Buffalo on the 11th.

DEAD BODY OF A SAILOR FOUND.—The dead body of a man, probably a sailor, and perhaps one of those on the ill-fated Euphemia, which was lost on Lake Michigan a few weeks since, was found washed ashore at Clay Banks, Ozeana county, on the 5th inst., as we learn from the Grand Rapids Eagle. The face and head were badly disfigured, apparently by thumping on the stones; but, as near as could be judged from appearance, it was that of a foreigner some 25 or 30 years of age, about 5 feet 8 inches in height. He had on blue cotton over-alls, blue woolen shirt, bluish gray drawers, long-topped water-proof boots, about No. 9, coarse woven woolen stockings, and a leather belt around the waist. The boots were considerably worn, the outer soles being worn through. The over-alls were apparently new; there was but one pocket, and that empty. No marks were found.

IN DRY DOCK.—The brig Black Hawk, which was the last vessel to leave this port for Europe, in going thro' the Lachine Canal grazed the bottom, and therefore went into dry dock, upon her arrival at Montreal, for the purpose of an examination. It was found that she was scarcely injured at all, and would not be detained. —Detroit Free Press, Thursday.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

A CLERGYMAN HAVING CURED HIS son of Consumption in its worst stages, after being given up to die, by the most celebrated physicians, desires to make known the means of cure, (which proves successful in every case,) to those afflicted with Coughs, Colds and Consumption, and he will send the same to any address, free of charge.—Address, enclosing two stamps to pay return post age.

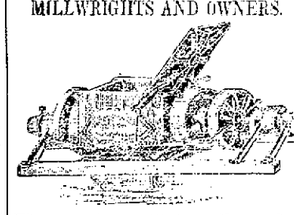
IMPORTANT NOTICE
—TO—
MILLWRIGHTS AND OWNERS.



The Excelsior Water Wheel Co.

ARE MANUFACTURING A NEW KIND of Water Wheel, patented 18th May, and 15th December, 1858, by J. H. Fairchild, of Vermont. It involves an entirely new principle of obtaining power, and of controlling the water, by which we obtain a greater maximum power than is attained by any other wheel now in use. Some of the advantages of this wheel are—

1st. We obtain the ENTIRE WEIGHT of the water, and have the advantage of the full head and fall from water to water.

2d. It surpasses all other wheels in velocity and power.

3d. The wheel is perfectly under the control of the workmen, either when used to drive a saw or any amount of machinery. In the latter case the speed is not diminished by or by the variation of the load on the wheel. Such is not the case with other wheels, where any and all are invited to call and examine it under practical test, and a mode of revolutions per minute. For further particulars, please address
